

RUM calls for

Constructing Architect Interns, Horsens

RUM calls for interns (students) for the spring of 2021, who will take part in a work culture, where we meet each other and our clients at eyelevel, focus on development and have a clear agenda for architecture and process that make a difference.

At RUM, you will be part of a team of almost 50 employees who work closely together. We focus on analysis, concept development, healthy process and valuable involvement of end users and the client.

As an intern at RUM, you will be engaged with individual tasks as well actively involved in teamwork. You will work on combining architectural ideas with buildable and sound, technical solutions during design and supervision on the construction site.

You must be a skilled 3D Revit user and have a flair for BIM.

We are looking for interns for our office in Horsens, and we have assignments throughout the country. We offer lunch arrangements as well as grants for SU and transport. (The train from Aarhus runs every 15 minutes, and it only takes 30 minutes to Horsens Station, which is 5 minutes away from RUM.)

If you are interested in an internship at RUM, send your application and portfolio to ansoger@rum.as. Label the application 'Constructing Architect Intern Horsens'.

We look forward to hearing from you.
